

Harold E. Kennedy Park

20 Rosewood Avenue

WALKABOUT: November 17, 2011

Work continues at the Pioneer Gas site next door

Open space.

New parking lot.

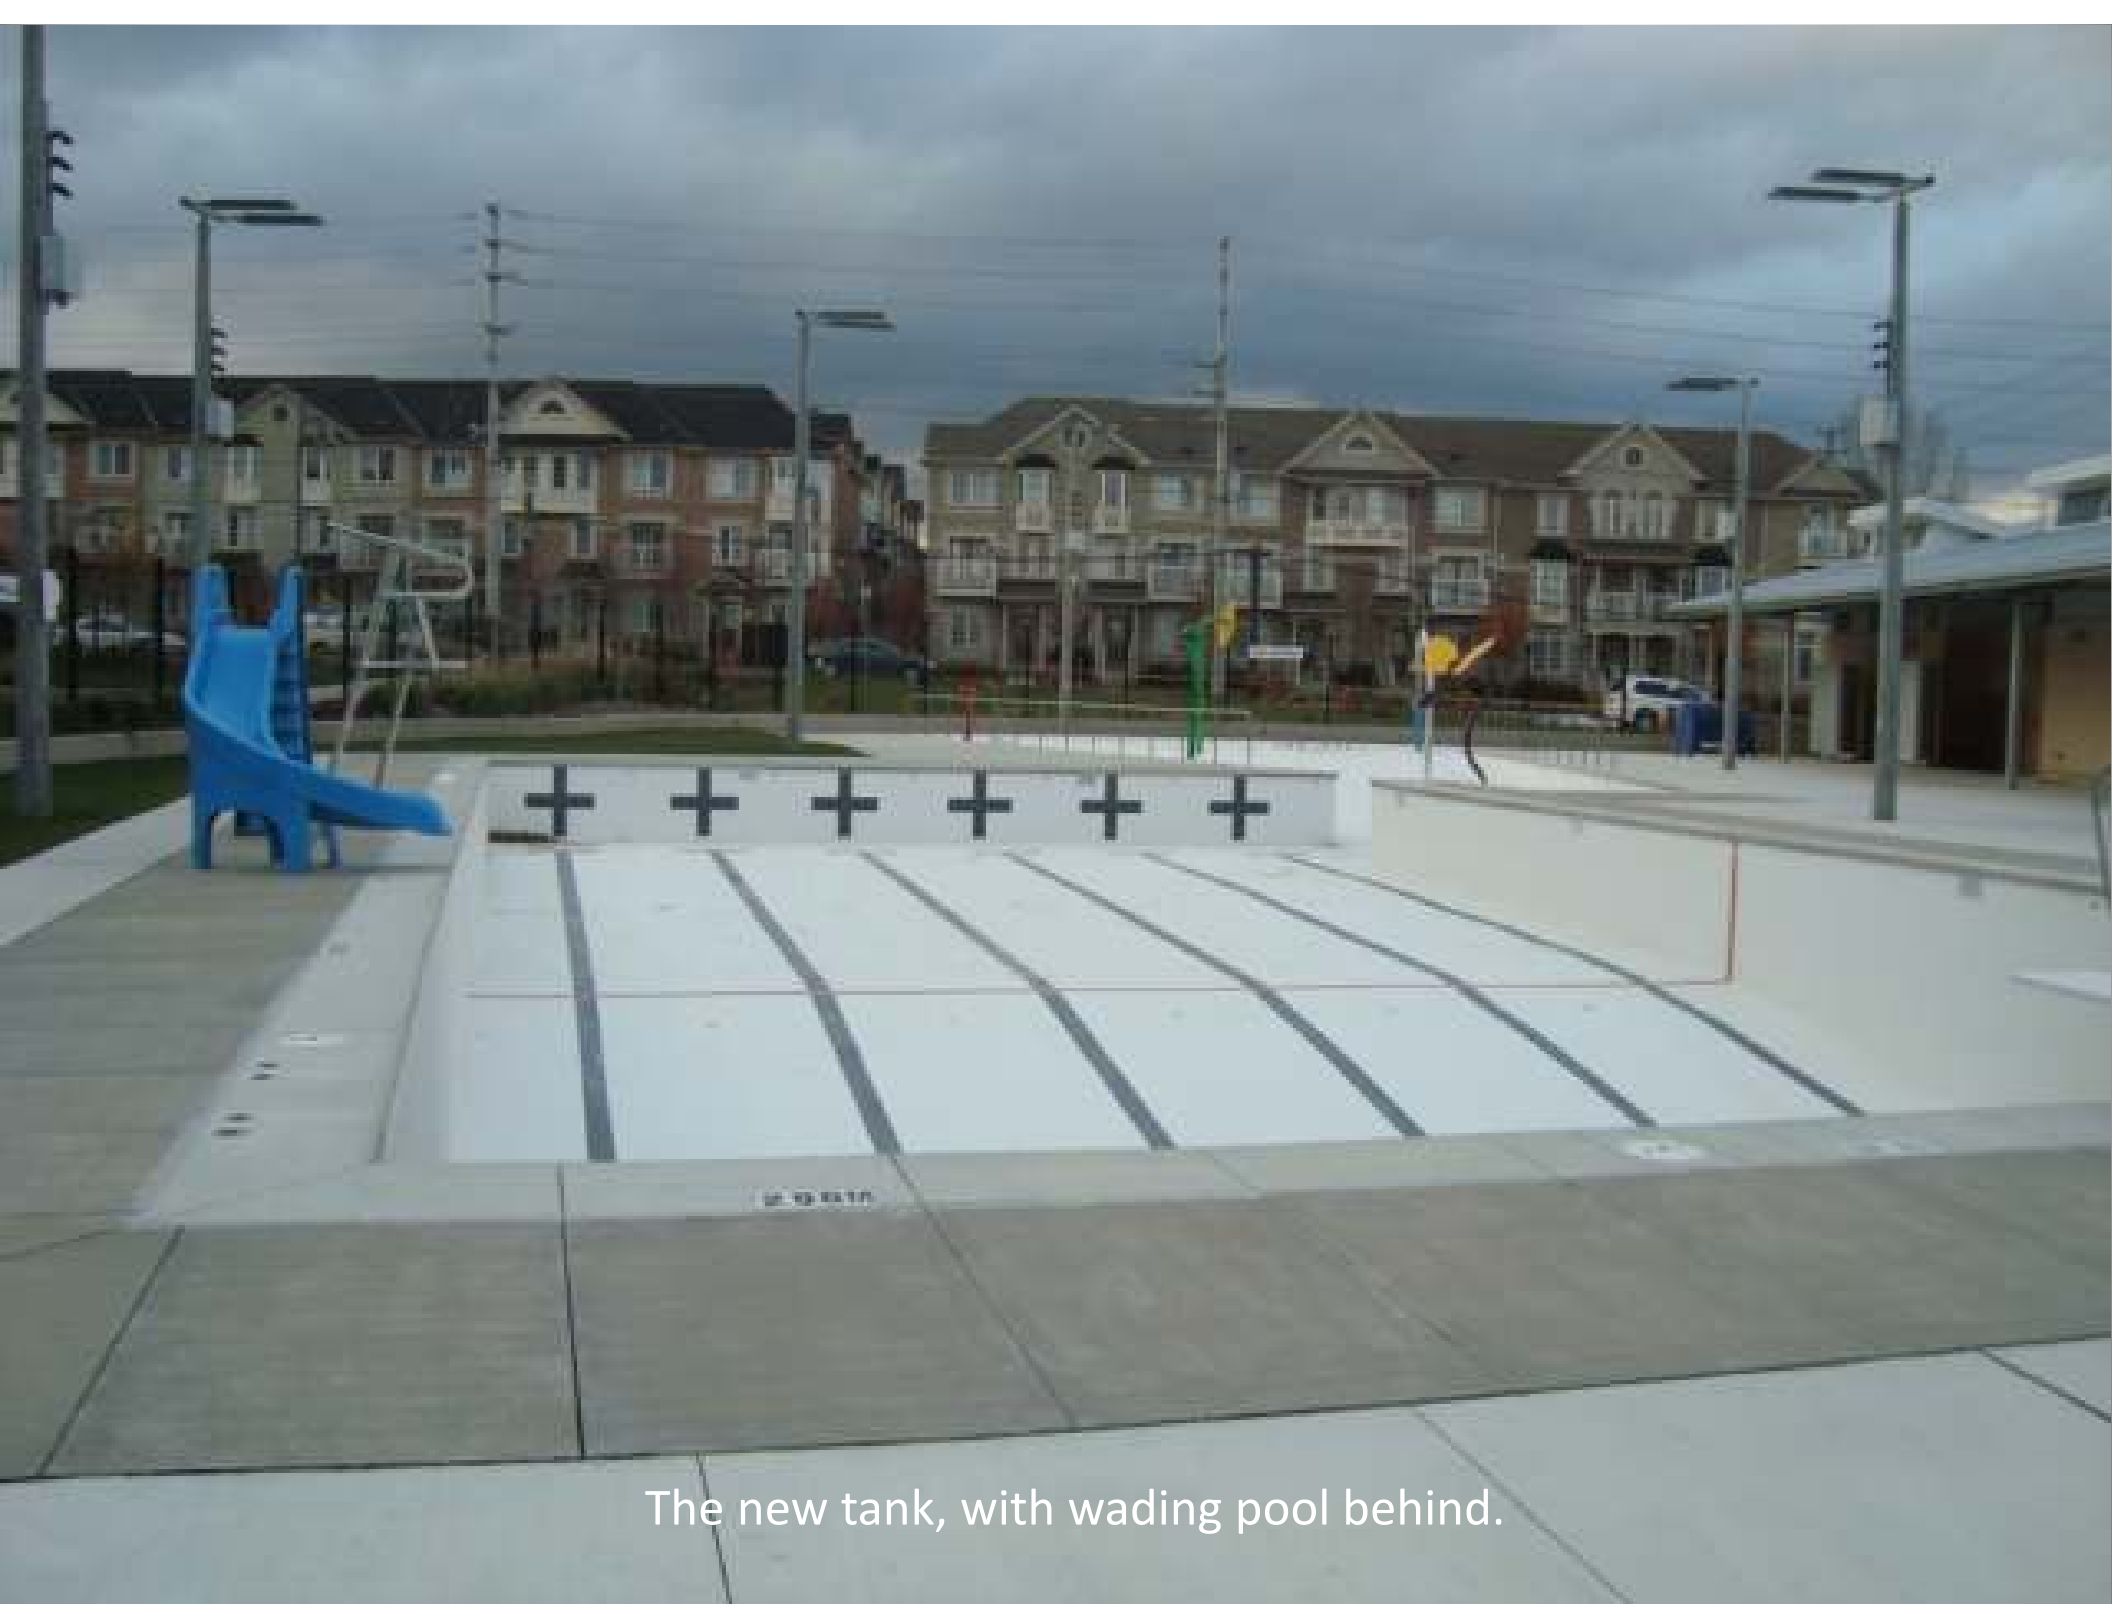

This new building replaces the former Lions' Hall.

P.S. Residents preferred these bike racks to the trial 'pod' racks at the Port Credit Farmers Market during Summer 2011.

New patio area of the renovated outdoor pool.

The new tank, with wading pool behind.

The new playground looks like a work of art!

New Gazebo

Here comes the real public art....

“Familia is comprised of nine sculptures in limestone and granite created by artist Stephen Cruise. According to the artist, the sculptures respond to the significant natural and industrial history of the location. The sculptures are positioned to echo the flow of the Credit River and to become an extension of the children’s play area.”

“The nine elements of the artwork include the following: a shell, tree, fish, fox, rail, boat, tank, lion and hive. The hive is the central piece. According to Cruise, it represents a place of collective activity and also references the St. Lawrence Starch Company that had a mill on the site and used a beehive as their company’s motif.” -- City Press Release, November 8, 2011

